ANALYSIS

The Farmland Preservation Plan makes significant changes to the way La Crosse County accomplishes farmland preservation for the next five to twenty years. La Crosse County has used the Working Lands Initiative and the tools that were made available by that effort. The Wisconsin Department of Agriculture, Trade and Consumer Protection has certified La Crosse County's Farmland Preservation Plan under Wis. Stat. s. 91.16, effective on the date the County adopts the Farmland Preservation Plan. Wis. Stat. s. 91.10(2) also requires that the Farmland Preservation Plan be consistent with and included in the La Crosse County Comprehensive Plan.

The Farmland Preservation Plan is not intended to prevent non-agricultural development, but rather the planning and farmland preservation tools are used to limit non-agricultural development in areas with favorable conditions for agricultural enterprises and target other areas as suitable for non-agricultural development. The planning for long-term farmland preservation and the economic development of agricultural areas can help identify and preserve sufficient land and infrastructure base needed to support agriculture. A plan that understands and addresses the needs of farm-related business owners can help insure predictability and security for those owners. The plan helps minimize conflict arising from incompatible land uses while at the same time protecting the rural heritage that has long defined Wisconsin. Planning for agriculture can also contribute to other goals, such as preserving wildlife habitat areas and maintaining groundwater recharge areas.

The Farmland Preservation Plan addresses the following areas:

- 1. Introduction
- 2. Background Conditions
- 3. Agricultural Context
- 4. Local Food System
- 5. Farmland Protection Tools
- 6. Implementation
- 7. Appendix
